THE 1948 ANNUAL
Shortridge High School
Indianapolis, Indiana

Presents . . . .

A Silhouette of Shortridge Life

The Silhouettes Speak . . . . .

Allen County Public Library
900 Webster Street
PO Box 2270

Just what is a silhouette of Shortridge life? It's a kaleidoscope of all the wonderfully exciting and solemnly moving experiences which have filled our four years in Shortridge with never-to-be-forgotten memories. Long after the class of 1948 has become merely another page in the annals of our beloved Shortridge, this silhouette will remain in our hearts, and more tangibly in this, our yearbook. We're here to paint this silhouette for you, so let's turn the page. . . . We're so eager to tell you all about our high school career!

But wait . . . perhaps we should first introduce ourselves. Who are we? We are the typical high school boy and girl, fun-loving seniors now looking ahead to the future. We are a silhouette of the Class of '48.

Jim and Jane Senior

"In the land of milk and honey
In the central west"

"Stands a school of many virtues Ranked among the best"

"Glorious Shortridge is her title
Loved by old and young"

"Let her name be duly honored
Let her praise be sung"
—ALMA MATER

We Respectfully Dedicate Our Annual . . .

. . . To a dear friend of the Senior Class, and of all Shortridge. In five short years, Mrs. Henrietta Parker has become familiar to us as a teacher who does everything possible to be helpful and understanding, both in the capacity of a science teacher and as the sponsor of so many Senior activities. To enumerate her services to us and our school would be a difficult task. As a teacher alone she is outstanding. And it seems the secret of her success with teen-agers can be summarized with a remark of her own . . . "I very much enjoy my young friends."

From Shortridge Pupil to Principal . . .

. . . Our New and Genial 'Boss'

The appointment of Joel W. Hadley as principal of Shortridge High School last year was unanimously approved by the students whom he had served and by the faculty and alumni with whom he had been associated. Mr. Hadley rose from the ranks of a Shortridge student to teacher—then to the well-deserved position of principal, filling so capably the "shoes" of Dr. J. Dan Hull.

As vice-principal, Mr. Hadley gained favorable recognition, working diligently for the students of the school and always maintaining a smile for everyone. Now, as principal, Mr. Hadley has continued to serve the students, faculty, and alumni of Shortridge with his expert knowledge of the problems of high school administration.

A high school that is to succeed must have a capable leader—a man who possesses high ability and a deep love of his work. Our new principal—new in his position, but an "old hand" at the job of guiding young people—has shown that he is just the man for the job. Under the administration of Joel W. Hadley, Shortridge will continue to be a leader.

These are our new boss' two assistants: Theodore Van Voorhees, who has served us in this capacity for several years; and Russell V. Sigler, who only recently assumed the office of vice-principal. These busy men are entrusted with many heavy responsibilities. Together they are in charge of the budget and the financial affairs of the school. They, along with our principal, have the unpleasant duty of disciplining us if we violate any of Shortridge's just and necessary rules and regulations. They perform the latter office fairly and sympathetically, always trying to see our viewpoint. They work hand in hand with the Guidance Department in planning and making changes in programs. They are ready at any time to serve as advisers and discuss our difficulties with our parents in an understanding way. To our hard-working vice-principals we owe a great deal, and we are proud to have known such fine men as these during our stay at Shortridge.

THE OFFICE FORCE HANDLES THE MONDAY RUSH

Expert Guidance Fits Us for the Outside World . . .

One of the most helpful institutions ever to be established for our benefit is the Guidance Department. The teachers who so unselfishly devote much of their time as advisers have many important duties. One of these is helping us to plan our study programs in such a way as to best fit us for what we wish to do after we graduate from Shortridge; that is, take a job, or continue our studies in college. In order to choose courses suited to our needs and desires, we confer with these advisers at regular intervals. They are ready to supply us with information concerning colleges and universities we might wish to attend. They aid us in altering our programs if it is found necessary.

The Guidance Department administers various tests during the school semester throughout our high school careers. These include intelligence tests, the Kuder preference test and personality profile tests. Modern teaching aids such as these provide instructors and advisers with additional vital information concerning our capacity for learning, our ambitions, and our personalities. The department keeps a complete and detailed record of our grades, family history, school activities, programs, and any recognitions and citations we have received. It helps us to find jobs which will not interfere with our studies. These are some of the ways in which the personnel of the Guidance Office serves us, as students of Shortridge High School.

This is the staff of the department: Claude Keesling, director; Mrs. Nell M. Thomas and Don R. Knight, freshman advisers; Miss Dorothy Dipple and Mr. Keesling, sophomore advisers; Miss Ruth Lewman and Kenneth Peterman, junior advisers; Miss Dorothy Peterson, senior adviser; and Miss Minnie Lloyd, College Board examination supervisor.

BOOKSTORE

The wide variety of articles which the bookstore has in stock never failed to amaze us. Why, it was practically a general store in itself. Cedric C. Hobbs' merchandise includes everything from penny penpoints to our class jewelry, not to mention all the hundreds of textbooks which the bookstore buys and sells. Assisting Mr. Hobbs as "clerks" this year were Betty Lou Stewart, Sue Kassebaum, Ronald Smith, and Eleanor Reed.

CAFETERIA

"Mmmm. Smells like we're having chili today." Remember how we used to speculate all through our third hour classes as to what the bill of fare was for lunch? When we think of how Mrs. Frances Lichtenwalter feeds 2,000 hungry Shortridgers every day, we really marvel at the grand job she does. With the cafeteria offering a daily menu which included everything from baked beans to chocolate cream pie, is it any wonder that lunch period was our favorite period in the day?

HEALTH SERVICE

Miss Marie Moran, our nurse, knows how to patch up all our bumps and bruises from a toothache to a broken arm, and her office and its two resting wards were always a welcome haven when we were feeling "under the weather." Her services also include a semi-annual check-up of each student. We Shortridgers are appreciative of our friendly nurse and all the help she has given us.

BUSINESS OFFICE

Remember when we were Echo and Annual agents and had all those little pink slips to worry with? If we thought our job was tough, we should have seen how much of the work remained to be done by the business office. Besides undertaking these two major projects, the office also regulates the finances of all the other school organizations.

The election of senior officers on October 15 began the year of activities for the class of 1948. The successful candidates in the election were Jim Jay, our president; Betty Lou Stewart, vice-president; Eleanor Reed, secretary; and Reed Rice, treasurer. The office of editor-in-chief of the Annual was accepted by Monica Lennox.

The governing body of the Senior Class consisted of a president's council. This group included representatives elected from our four senior home rooms, and the above-mentioned class officials.

The first big event which the seniors sponsored was the Christmas party, given for the class members on December 13 in the girls' gym. The only admission charged at this affair was a toy, which was donated to a child welfare organization. The party was a huge success.

The Senior Colors Committee chose light blue and black for the ribbons of the Class of '48.

This year the Senior Play was the famous comedy, "You Can't Take It With You," presented on March 19, 1948, in Caleb Mills Hall. The play was under the direction of Miss Eleanor Dee Theek.

May 27 was the last day of school for the graduating seniors. The class Vesper Services were held Sunday, May 30, in the auditorium. The last of the four senior meetings was held on Tuesday, June 1, and the Class Day festivities which took place in Caleb Mills Hall were also on June 1.

At last, on Wednesday, June 2, came the night for the most impressive of all Shortridge occasions, the graduation ceremony in the Coliseum. Here the seniors in caps and gowns received their diplomas and prepared to meet their new life with the distinction of being a graduate of Shortridge High School.

Respectfully submitted,

Eleanor Reed

Secretary of the Senior Class.

Behind the Scenes — Our Senior Council

"Who's the Annual going to be dedicated to?" . . . "What studio gets the picture contract?" . . . "How will the seniors hold their election?"

These are just a few of the tough problems that were handled by our Senior Council during the past two semesters. Six representatives elected from each of the four senior home rooms (making a grand total of twenty-four) had the weight of the senior class business on their manly (and womanly) shoulders . . . the record shows that they did a swell job.

The Council handled such "toughies" as the budget, Class Day affairs, and graduation without trouble. Our class president, Jim Jay, kept the Council on its toes, and Miss Dorothy Peterson did the advising —when it was needed. History will show that the Senior Council did its part in keeping our Class of 1948 "in line."

Senior home room teachers . . . Kenneth Peterman, Miss Dorothy Peterson, Mrs. Louise Steiger, Mrs. Henrietta Parker, Don R. Knight, and Miss Alice Hessler help seniors make out their program cards.

Remember Our Hilarious Christmas Party . . .

GUESS MARY LOU THINKS IT LOOKS GOOD

IT'S JOAN AND PATTY AND THE "CHRISTMAS SONG"

"SANTA" NIPPER

. . . And the good time all the seniors had the afternoon of December 16.

The 'Who is Santa?" contest caused the most pre-party interest as the potential revelers pondered over the weighty question. Long after Robert L. Nipper, alias "Santa," had come and gone — leaving a few presents, incidentally — there were still a few in doubt. Jim Jay, the senior class prez, handled the proceedings with ease . . . and things seemed to go off like clockwork.

A few of the afternoon's happenings were— the classy "warbling" of Natalie Graham and Marge Reed—the accordion duets of Patty Joy and Joan Robinson—the antics of magician first-class Dick Winchester—the ivory-pounding of Don Hopkins—and the all-important function of the refreshment committee.

The gym was gaily slicked up for the affair with a Christmas tree highlighting the decorations (which also included two tables of punch and cookies). Toys gathered at the door were given to Riley Hospital.

The following people headed the committees for the party: Darcy DeWeese, tree and decorations; Jane Karrman, gift committee; Janie Fouts, publicity; Dottie Webb, entertainment; Nancy Miller, food; Dick Gause, music; Barbara Burchfield, project committee; and Evan Parker, deck-swabbers.

Our Class Day officers make plans for the big day (left to right): Don Hopkins, will-maker; Jack Leer, giftorian; Janet Courtney, prophet; and Anne Malone, historian.

Senior Week Found Seniors Weak

Our senior class prophet has been at work. Part of our last big "fling" came in the Senior Week when the class officers gave way to allow the giftorian, the historian, the willmaker, and the aforementioned prophet to reign supreme.

Class Day was characterized with roving seniors and the big program in Caleb Mills Hall, at which time we "upperclassmen" really cut some capers. Senior Week included Annual autographing, fond farewells, and little of anything in the studying line. It's always a sign of approaching graduation . . . and there are always nostalgic memories of four l-o-n-g, hard years.

The Honor Society—Eighty-five Strong

Because of their scholarship and their contribution to the varied program of activities here at school eighty-five members of the senior class were elected to become members of the Shortridge chapter of the National Honor Society. According to the constitution of the organization, only a limited number of seniors are eligible for membership.

Here at Shortridge the personnel of the group is determined by a combination of the student's scholastic rating in his class and by his contribution to the school's activities program as determined by the number of citations which he has received during his four years at Shortridge.

Qualities which are considered important by the honor group are scholarship, leadership, character, and service.

The first meeting of this year's chapter was held Thursday, March 4. That's when they took this picture of us, and that's when we elected officers. Our initiation service was held in the spring and our parents were invited to come.

It's fun to be a member of the Honor Society, but as Miss Mildred Foster, our sponsor says, it also carries a responsibility, for we all feel that we must live up to the ideals of the society and must develop those qualities which made us candidates for election.

Officers and sponsors of the group include Carl Bals, president; Martha Grace Clark, Carol Lannerd, Larry Noling, Horace Shonle, vice-presidents; Rebecca Lane, secretary-treasurer; Miss Mildred Foster, Mrs. Gertrude Weathers, Mrs. Blanche Rawlings, Miss Dorothy Dipple, sponsors.

A Tribute To Our Friend . . .

Shortridge lost a great friend in the passing of Simon P. Roache on July 19, 1947. Mr. Roache had been a loyal friend and companion to Shortridge students since he came to teach here in 1912.

His smiling face, jovial manner, and subtle sense of humor shall remain in the hearts of all those fortunate enough to know him.

Mr. Roache loved Shortridge and Shortridge loved him. In his 35 years of service he saw the dream of the new building become a reality. We miss the cheery smile with which he greeted all who passed Room 344.

All of Shortridge—students, faculty, administration—feel the loss of a typical, loyal Shortridger.

Shakespeare to O. Henry Well Mixed With Grammar

Readin', 'ritin', and 'rith—whoops, there's no 'rithmetic in the English department, but there is spelling. In addition to the first two "R's" we learned to speak, listen, and think.

In readin' most of us graduated from the simple comic strips to more difficult material.

In 'ritin' we learned to pen our ideas clearly and logically. Some of us entered our literary efforts in the various contests; others just wrote the usual notes and letters.

We all talk, and we like to say what we mean.

To express it formally, in English we learned to express our thoughts clearly and effectively, while we heard and interpreted accurately the words of others. The basic goal of the department is thinking through communication, for by thinking we can form accurate judgments of what we read and hear.

Miss Manuel's English III's get a lesson in grammar. These English VII's seem to be enjoying the subject!

"Ex Libris"

We all enjoyed the friendly atmosphere of the Charity Dye Library which was established to commemorate a famous Shortridge teacher. Mrs. Esther Cavanagh, head librarian, and her assistant, Mrs. Jean Jackson, helped us find books and periodicals for supplementary reading.

From its 21,000 volumes the library supplies material for the history reference rooms and classrooms.

We are particularly proud of the Hodges collection of biology books and the collection of memorial books honoring former teachers and students.

A typically busy morning in the Charity Dye Library.

Language From A To Z

Our world is so little now! Modern transportation has brought the various nations and races right into our own back yard, and we feel, as never before, a need for a good knowledge of their languages. We can visualize ourselves in the future, flying or sailing great distances in a short time, and certainly Americans like us couldn't conduct a very intelligent conversation with a Frenchman, or a German, or a Spaniard, without having some background concerning his native tongue.

In Shortridge, we have excellent courses in these three languages, as well as Latin, from which much of the vocabulary and structure of French, Spanish, and English were derived. Another class, Latin and Greek Derivatives, deals solely with the derivation of English words, prefixes, and suffixes from these two sources.

Besides studying the tongues of other nations in the classrooms, we participated in many extra activities pertaining to the particular course we were pursuing. In Latin we enjoyed discussing the customs of ancient Rome, in our clubs, the Junior and Senior S.P.Q.R. The German Club offered educational entertainment for those of us especially interested in that language. As French students we found enjoyment in sending food and clothing, as well as letters, to a school we had adopted in Calais, France.

These are some of the ways in which our Shortridge Language department has brought the people of foreign lands closer to us in understanding, if not in distance. We Shortridgers really appreciate the fine work which this department is doing to help make our world "One World."

From Adam to Molotov In History Department

Some of the most valuable training we received at Shortridge was from the many courses offered by our History Department. Our classes in history were planned with the idea of giving us practice in critical thinking, as well as expanding our background and appreciating our heritage. The courses were varied, and divided carefully in order to cover the field thoroughly. Ancient and World History supplied us with basic knowledge as to the founding of civilization, and its progress through the centuries up to the modern age. The history of America was included in two main courses and a special class devoted to the discussion of the social development of our country—all about the taxes which we'll have to pay in a few years and the way in which we'll run our government.

Many unique approaches to the study of history were devised to make it even more interesting. A Speakers' Series was directed, in which our Shortridge teachers and organizations presented interesting and informative programs for the students in the History Department. Among these discussions and lectures during the season were a talk by Mrs. Hope B. Nevitt, giving a first-hand account of the meetings of the United Nations which she attended; an illustrated lecture by Miss Grace Custer on her trip to Mexico; Mrs. Gertrude Weathers' report of a recent trip to France; an oral biography of the great scientist, John Dalton, by Frank B. Wade; and numerous panel reviews and debates which were presented by the Senate, the History Club, and Mrs. Madge Temperley's Discussion Group.

Where The Mathematical Geniuses Are Born

It looks like these kids really know their arithmetic!

It was really a job to decide what math courses to take when the department offered everything from general mathematics to analytic geometry and trigonometry courses preparing students for every vocation from business to science. And, honestly, with those weapons like the atomic bomb and germ warfare, we really need that experience of reasoning accurately and applying our logic quickly. And you know what they teach you in math class—speed and accuracy—well, that's just what you should develop for any future job. And besides . . . no matter what you do, you're sure to use math, even if it's only to measure for the new linoleum or check the addition on those register slips you get from the super market.

This Trig really looks complicated!

From Atoms To Anatomy—Our Science Department

"You want it? We've got it!"

That's the motto of the Shortridge Science Department. Yes, indeed, our Science Department offers instruction in everything from airplanes to anatomy, from hyacinths to hydrogen. In the chemistry division, with Frank B. Wade as head, there's everything from elementary (and the two buck kind) chemistry to qualitative and quantitative analysis. In the bio-physiology division with Robert C. Black as head, Shortridge offers geography, botany, zoology, biology, and physiology. (My goodness, they rhyme.) But don't go away, that's not all. There are also physics and aeronautics, under Robert C. Grubbs and H. H. Siemers; and psychology with Lester Groth.

Besides the regular staff of teachers the departments also have student assistants who—well, ah, er, assist, and they get paid, too. This past year's assistants were Jim Beacham, Barbara Wolfgang, Lorraine Rodenbarger, and David Peat, in botany; Walter Ballew, Bill Humphrey, and Joe Guarnery in zoology; Don Cassady, Jack Siebe, A. Evelyn Arnold, and Ronnie Hauck in biology; Carolyn Stelle, Carl Bals, Mac Fehsenfeld, and Alvin Thomas in chemistry; and Herman Lauter and Alfred Geen in physics.

Look out! The Chem class is experimenting again!

Must be a tough Physics problem they're pondering!

Take a Letter . . .

Our Commerce Department is where the future stenographers and accountants got their training. Besides excellent courses in shorthand and typing, the department also offered us Junior Business Arithmetic, Machine Calculation, Business Law, and Retail Problems. These classes proved beneficial to most all of us, whether we planned to enter the business world or not, for what student couldn't use a knowledge of shorthand for taking notes speedily, or enough typing skill to enable him to type all his themes and book reports? When these courses have proved such a help to all of us, is it any wonder that nearly half the enrollment of our school was taking some subject offered by the Commerce Department this past year?

Stenographers in the making.

Don't Drop That Pan

"Gee, but something smells good!" Those tantalizing odors which came from the spotless kitchens of the Home Ec department certainly whetted our appetites. The girls tell us that they select, prepare, and serve all kinds of good things to eat. In the advanced classes they prepare special meals for Shortridge guests.

"Make the home beautiful" is the theme of the classes studying the decoration and furnishing of the home. An artistic choice of colors and a pleasing arrangement of furniture and decorative pieces makes a room more beautiful, according to the homemakers.

In the clothing field the girls learn to choose materials suitable for wearing apparel, and how to make garments of good line and color which are becoming and stylish. Some of the girls in the sewing classes entered dresses in the annual contest sponsored by the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Printers of Tomorrow

Are the basketball programs ready? How soon can we have those tickets? Is it too late to get this notice in tomorrow's Echo? Here's another ad for the Vaudeville program. Are those science manuals finished?

All these are familiar questions to the triumvirate in the Shortridge Print Shop.

Printing the Annual probably is the most ambitious undertaking of the shop, and to do it while printing the Echo each day is quite an achievement.

The personnel of the shop includes J. Woodard Auble, who teaches two double period classes in which the boys learn to set type and run the presses; Paul Gakstatter, who does the linotype work; and Charles Irby, who runs the press.

Artist to Audience

Eleven of the twelve corridors in our school are as alike as eleven peas in a pod. One, however, is unique. Can you guess which it is? Why, of course—the Selleck Art Gallery on the third floor. Here the walls are lined, not with lockers, but with sketches and paintings done by students in the adjoining rooms, who worked with pen, pencil, and brush to become the artists and draftsmen of our generation. An expert staff of art teachers, including Charles Yeager, head of the department; Orrin Thundere, Miss Jane Messick, and Miss Essie Long, have aided those of us who struggled to become future Rembrandts. All of these teachers have had much experience in the teaching as well as in the practical application of art. Versatile Gordon O. Johnson has been the one-man teaching staff of arts and crafts and mechanical drawing.

Our Art Department was a great help to us this year in handling the layouts of the Annual and the Christmas Echo, the designing of the Junior Vaudeville Program cover, and in making the many eye-catching posters we saw from time to time in our corridors and classrooms.

"And they drawed those purty pictures too."

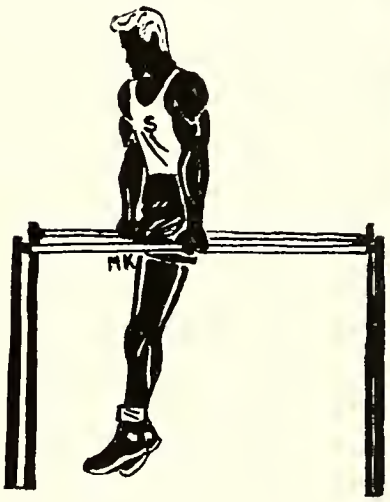
A popular meeting place is the art gallery.

From Physical Education To Health And Safety

Say . . . that's a good deal . . . I mean the varied program sponsored by the Phys. Ed. department this past year. Russel S. Julius, Thomas Wood, George N. Gale, Roy Aberson, and Jerry Steiner really worked hard to carry out a gym course that would benefit all of us. Besides taking part in many sports activities we fellows also went in for exercises which were real muscle-builders.

Yes, but those were all for you fellas . . . what about the Girls' Physical Ed department? Mrs. Mary Treichler and Miss Alice Hessler had a swell program of physical training for us girls that included not only sports and body building exercises, but dancing too. Arthur Murray won't get any business from our gym classes.

"Hands on hips, place."
"One two, three, pull."



"Don't play with matches!"

Health and Safety, although one of our "required" subjects here at Shortridge, is also one of the most interesting. Mrs. Kate Steichmann and Paul E. Dill, the teachers, have "conspired" to make it a well-rounded, complete, and far-from-dull semester course.

By making charts and studies of our diet, we learned to be more careful of our eating habits . . . and by drawing accurate sketches and discussing parts of the body we learned more about the great human "machine." Through studies of safety methods we became more conscious of ever-present danger.

Make Ours Music

"And the angels sing" might well have been the opinion of any Shortridger who happened by 401 some morning and heard our music groups "take it away."

Our Music Department offers to our young singers an excellent chance to develop their vocal talents.

We couldn't resist peeping in on one of these mornings to see where all the lovely notes were originating, and there were rows and rows of our classmates looking slightly cherubic under the batons of Mrs. Laura C. Moag and Mrs. Geraldine T. Clippinger. And this is where all the preparation starts that results in the finished professional sounding auditorium programs.

A voice student here at S.H.S. may join the Girls' Glee Club, the Ensemble, the Choir, the Boys' Glee Club, and Chorus. There are classes in music appreciation and harmony, too.

Our future Sinatras and Crosbys belonged to the Boys' Glee Club, which put on several performances at school as well as singing over the air. The Glee Club members were: John Ainsworth, Emanuel Apostle, Easley Blackwood, Harold Cohen, Michael Doody, Donald Epstein, William Gant, Vance Klusmire, Stanley Malkemus, Marvin Maguire, Robert Malsbary, Harrison Marsh, Jack McDonald, Wallace McIlvaine, Donald Millholland, Charles Moody, Paul Moffett, Charles Musser, Drew Oldham, Robert Parker, Louis Platt, Ray Starr, Donald Thiele, Ed Walker, Ted Whelan, Jerry Williamson, and Philip Woerner.

We String Along With the Orchestra

The performance of the Shortridge Orchestra, under the direction of Will F. Wise, was one of the most-looked-forward-to occasions on the auditorium program schedule during the whole season. Besides serving us in the auditorium, the Orchestra played in the May Music Festival, the All-City Orchestra Festival, and the all-important commencement in June. A small theater orchestra selected from the concert group furnished music for our all-school plays and the senior play. A string ensemble played for the Christmas program too. Various members of the Orchestra participated in solo festivals sponsored by the Music Department of the Indianapolis Public Schools. Seniors in the Orchestra who had played for six semesters or more were awarded important-looking gold pins, and those who served four semesters received silver pins. These are the highest awards ever given by the Music Department.

The Shortridge Orchestra is directed by Will F. Wise.

The Boys in Blue—Always Something New

An innovation this year was a series of Band appreciation concerts given in the grade schools to help create interest in instrumental music. Our band also participated in the May Music Festival and marched with the R.O.T.C. at Federal Inspection and in the Armistice Day parade. The brass ensemble played at Monument Circle for Christmas and Easter municipal programs.

Oh, and another thing—which we think was most spectacular—was a system of stunts prepared for the band by Mr. Shultz and performed during the halves of all the local football games. We'll never forget the time it rained so terribly at the Cathedral game and the boys had a "Shultz-stunt" all planned, but the muck and mud of the field prohibited it. Not ones to be daunted, six of the brass ensemble rolled their pants legs to their knees, marched down the middle of the rain-soaked field and conducted us in the singing of our school songs. Such was the spirit of our band.

Attention! Forward, March . . .

The "new look" played an important part in our lives as Shortridge R.O.T.C. cadets this year. Not only did we boys shed our ancient olive drab for more up-to-date regalia, but the school elected three girl sponsors to serve with the battalion at parades and inspections.

The head man and "C. O." (commanding officer) for the unit this past year was Lt. Walter R. Fleming, and his right-hand man was M/Sgt. Albert C. Fischer. Together they worked with the cadets, instructing us in all phases of military education. In Room 129, as well as on the parade ground, emphasis was placed on the "little things" which go to make up good officers of the future.

The Armistice Day parade last November found us hoofing it down Indianapolis streets in the face of the c-o-o-ld winter wind. Previous to the parade we had learned that we had been rated "tops" in the city after reports were tabulated from the Federal Inspection in May of 1947. During the fall we brushed up on drill, rifle handling, and learned the A.B.C.'s of tactics.

When the snow began to come we moved inside where we were exposed to "book larnin'" until the Spring. The big project of the military department was the selection of girl sponsors. After an all-school election Jody Hoster, Marilyn Alexander, and Cynny Pittenger were chosen. Through a series of exams the officers of the unit were chosen. The cadet majors were Richard Bowers and Richard Stoeppelwerth; the adjutant, Jim C. Hirschman.

Uniforms for the girl sponsors were fashioned by the Shortridge sewing classes, but we cadets got our new garb from the Tech magazine. When Spring rolled around once more, we strutted our stuff before officers of the Second Army in the annual Federal Inspection on the campus. With the "new look" our R.O.T.C. unit showed off with that "old look" of Shortridge supremacy.

"There's nothing wrong with me."

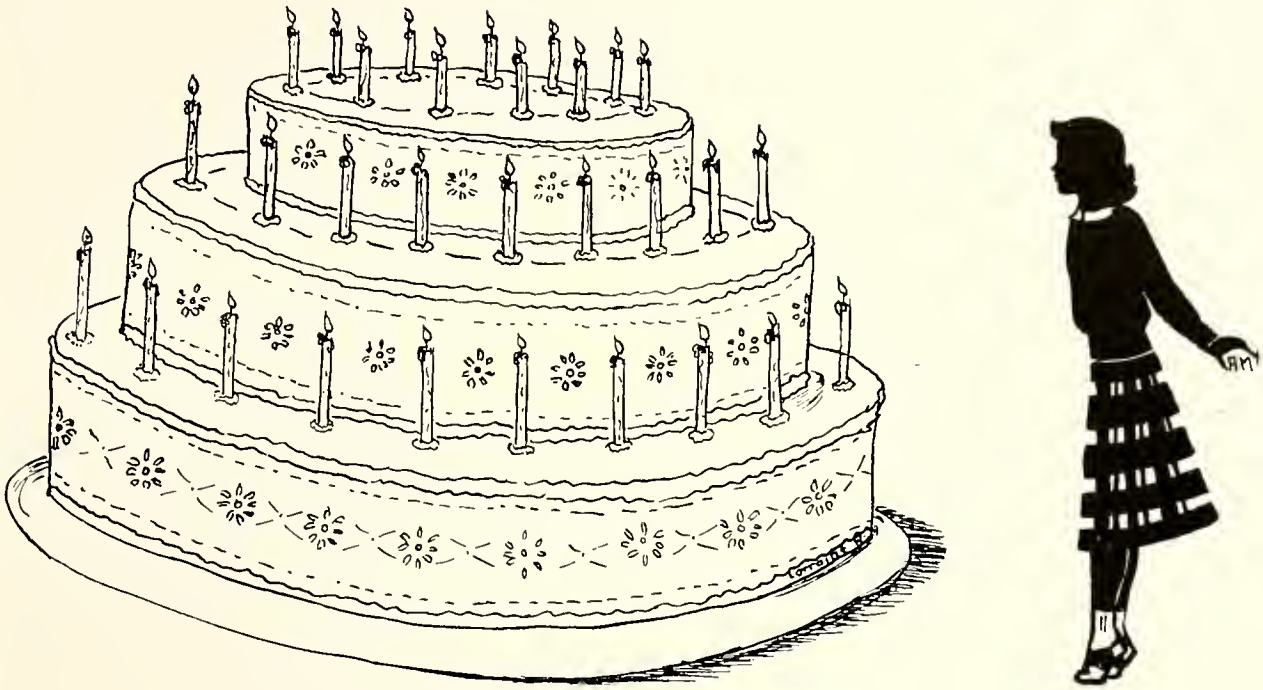
BIRTHDAY YOU!"



"Fifty Years of Continuous Daily Publication . . ."

Yes, Happy Birthday to the world's oldest high school daily, our own Shortridge Echo! We're really proud of our paper and each one of us takes individual pride in its fifty years of praiseworthy achievement. On January 22 we celebrated this golden anniversary with a banquet and series of tableaux at school. Young and old—students, alumni, friends—came to honor the Echo and a most enjoyable evening was spent.

We know that for long months before the actual celebration committees worked in preparation for the big event, and the final success testified to the amount of "midnight oil" that was burned. The cafeteria was transformed into a gilded dining room, the halls and library were filled with reminiscing, hand-shaking alumni, and snapping flash-bulbs, and the stage provided the setting for a pageant depicting the history of the Echo from its doubtful beginning back in 1898 to the 2,000 circulation it now boasts.

Right now, under the helpful guidance of Miss Jeannette Grubb, assisted by Miss Doris Manuel, the Echo mirrors our school life, boasting a competent staff headed by five experienced editors. Five editions of the daily are put out each week under the critical eyes of editors Marilyn Gernstein, Jim Merrell, Mark Colby, Janie Fouts, and Mary Lockwood.

The big advantage of a daily newspaper is its coverage of events. This year we had an alert bunch of sports writers who kept us up to date on all the athletic events. A string of talented columnists added variety to the Echo's pages, while the mainstay of the paper—the reporters—worked hard to track down the news which never failed to hold our interest during home room period.

Putting out a daily is always "big business," as Bloor Redding, our business manager, knew only too well. Assisted by Mary Lou Jamison, Bloor kept the Echo going all year with the "green stuff" it took.

With our Echo's success for 50 years already history, we Shortridgers are looking forward to the future and to another fifty years of "continuous daily publication."

Wiley, Bosse, Hammond, and Shortridge were represented in the final debates held Saturday morning, which were judged by professors from Purdue University, Northwestern, and Illinois Normal. Because Wiley had two teams entered, a split gave them second place honors, with Shortridge close behind.

To Make Our Christmas Brighter

Say, this year's Christmas Echo was really neat —from Jim Peed's swell cover design to the very last short story written by the Fiction Club. But we guess its chances were pretty slim back in the autumn when it was decided to try the magazine without advertising this year. Thanks to the hard work of Editor Jim Merrell and the rest of the staff—Mary Lockwood, Anne Malone, Janie Fouts, Mary Colby, Ellen Norman, Bob Munger, Peggy MacNelly, Marilyn Gernstein, Ted Steeg, Jim Sidensticker, Barbara Finch, and Sue Hostetler — the magazine turned out a grand success, surpassing even the fondest expectations of Miss Jeannette Grubb and Miss Doris Manuel, the faculty advisers.

The junior O. Henrys in the Fiction Club, under the direction of Miss Ruth Louise Armstrong, were responsible for all those excellent short stories which we enjoyed reading so much.

And did our wallets sigh with relief when Bloor Redding and Mary Lou Jamison, the business managers, were able to keep that price down to its prewar level! Oh, yes, and those photographs by Mr. Siemers and the illustrations by Miss Essie Long's art classes were wonderful too. Yes, the 1948 Christmas Echo was really a grand Yuletide present for us Shortridgers.

Journalism . . . And a Thousand Other Things

Hey, that's a good deal . . . going to class and getting paid for it! Yep, that's just exactly what Shortridge's correspondents to the local papers do. These lucky guys and gals are Warren Rich with the Indianapolis Times, James Merrell with the Indianapolis News, and Janie Fouts and Ted Steeg with the Indianapolis Star. And these newspapers pay them for each story published!

But . . . and here's the catch . . . that's not all they do. Their duties often varied from corresponding to proofreading, from making Echo business trips to mailing or telephoning . . . there was even a lot of Echo journalism thrown in just to keep them busy. Guess if we wanted to get rich quick we should have enrolled in a journalistic correspondence class.

Our Formal Arguers Take a Bow

Have you heard the latest about C. C. Shoemaker's debate class? Well, it seems that one day a certain girl (name withheld for humanitarian reasons) got a little twisted in her speech. Instead of beginning with the customary "Mr. Shoemaker and classmates," she tied up by saying: "Mr. Classmaker and shoemates." (Moral: keep your mind off the boys, girls.)

But Shortridge speakers certainly didn't make many mistakes as proved by their wonderful record this year. First of all, up at the Purdue University Speech Conference, Bob Munger, Mary Lockwood, and Richard Russell won recognition as being among the most outstanding young speakers in Indiana. And then over at the Indiana State Teachers' College debate tourney, Shortridge's Jim Merrell on the affirmative and Dick Russell and William Burnette on the negative got the rating of "excellent."

The competition for places on this year's debate team was really stiff. But after a lively tryout in January, William Burnette, Patty Hart, Marjorie Kahn, Gerald Kraft, James Merrell, and Dick Russell were chosen.

But debate wasn't the only interest of our Shortridge speakers. Yes, there was also oratory. In this field Richard Russell was chosen as our representative to the Wabash Oratorical Contest, and Dan Nyhart, to the American Legion Oratorical Contest.

Dick Russell was our representative in the Wabash oratoricals.

Our Senior Play Was A Sure-Fire Hit!

"You Can't Take It With You." And that's why we all spent a little of it back there on March 19 to see our class' senior play.

This top-notch production of that hilarious Broadway hit, "You Can't Take It With You," was given under the supervision of Mary Obear, student director, and Miss Eleanor Dee Theek, faculty director. It was all about a sweet, young girl, Alice by name, who fell in love with her boss' son, Tony, and he with her. So far so good, but here's the catch—and also the plot—Alice had a completely wackey family. Grandpa hadn't worked for twenty years, ever since he decided one day that he was wasting his time at his office. Her mother painted ridiculous pictures and wrote even more ridiculous plays, and her father spent all his time making fireworks in the basement.

Excellent character portrayals were turned in by each member of the cast, which included: Linda Wohlfeld as Alice; Jewell Jean Lain as Penny, her mother; Bob Swan as her father; Dottie Webb as Alice's ballet-crazed sister, Essie; Roger Sheets as Essie's husband, Ed; David Lewis as Grandpa; Mark Colby as Mr. DePinna, the iceman; Billy Solotkin as a Russian dancing teacher; Carol Segar as Olga, a cousin of the czar; Barbara Bartick and Bloor Redding as Rheba and Donald, the colored servants; Jim McBride as Tony; Larry Noling and Monica Lennox as Mr. and Mrs. Kirby; Donald Thiele as the investigator; and Dick Gause and Weldon Johnson as G-men.

The whole cast listens as Mary Obear gives directions.

Shure 'n' Peg Captured Our Hearts

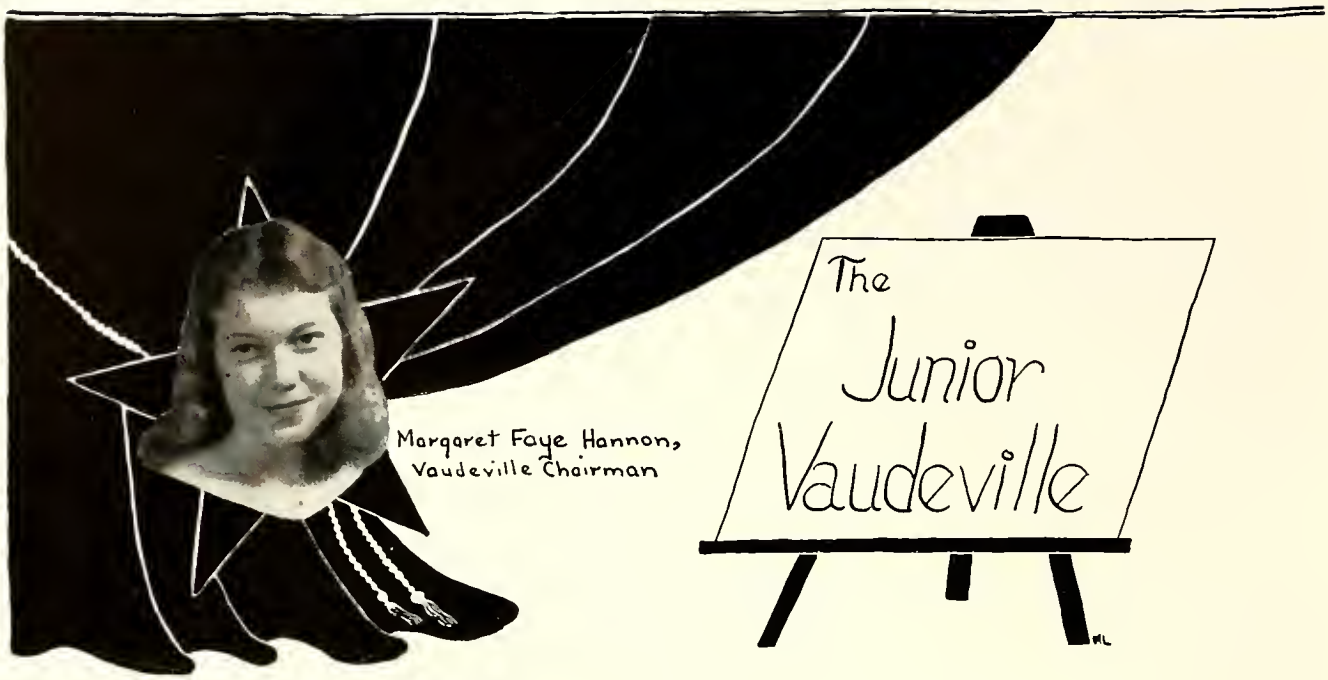
Pat Locke as "Peg"

There's a first time for everything . . . And for the first time in our four years at Shortridge, a play actually began on time! Well . . . almost, anyway. It was exactly 8:18 on the night of October 17 that the curtain in Caleb Mills Hall rose on the first All-School Play of the year, "Peg o' My Heart." The production, under the direction of Eleanor Dee Theek, began with a solo of the hit song, "Peg o' My Heart," sung by Frank Parrish, a Shortridge alumnus.

Written by J. Hartley Manners, this comedy concerned a transplanted Irish girl—transplanted to Brooklyn, that is—whose rich old uncle died and left her a huge sum of money. But . . . to cash in on it, she had to go to England and live for one year with her snobbish aunt, Mrs. Chichester. Here began her trials and troubles in trying to become a lady . . . here she found the man of her heart, handsome Lord Jerry.

Pat Locke turned in a starring performance as the impulsive, friendly Peg, while Larry Noling provided the romantic interest as the English Lord Jerry. The worldly Chichester family included Dottie Webb as the frigid Mrs. Chichester, Linda Wohlfeld as her pampered daughter Ethel, and Jack Forbes as her son. Donald Thiele portrayed Brent, Ethel's "English - accented" suitor, while Bloor Redding added humor to the difficult situation as the persistent solicitor. Innocent bystanders in the Chichester household were Dorothy Jeffries as the maid, and Dick Winternheimer as the butler.

The Chichester family spends a "quiet" evening at home. Bridget, the maid, and Jarvis, the butler, look on as Ethel threatens Brent and Lord Jerry pleads with Peg. In the midst of it all Solicitor Hawkes attempts to explain some complicated legal matters to Mrs. Chichester.



With All Its Glitter . . .

"Remember when the chicken got away and ran across the stage; and remember how the rope nearly broke when Ellen and Patty swung across the stage? And wasn't it funny when the dolls danced at the wedding of Jack and Jill? Well, how about the luscious costumes in the Easter Parade number? They were super!"

All these conversations will be heard down the line from now on till forever, for they all concern the 1948 Vaudeville, chairmanned by Margaret Faye Hannon.

Everybody agreed that it was one of the "bestest" Vaudevilles Shortridge ever had.

The acts were: "Taboo," headed by Pat Shardelow, Ellen Norman, and Flo Waterman; "Once Upon a Time" with Ann Pritchard and Roger Woizeski as chairmen; "Hysteria in History," with Marcia Bundy and Jane Aspinall as the heads; "It's Springtime," with Berniece Horth, Patty Joy, Dottie Webb, and Peter Cislak serving as chairmen, and "Make Mine Mountain Style," with co-chairmen Pam Nolen and Janie Collins.

The dolls join the wooden soldiers in the Toyshop.

Bewildered Freshies

The annual crop of "greenies" descended upon us last September, amidst a bewildering flurry of forms, schedules, and little yellow study slips. By the end of the year these youngest members of our Shortridge family were just as much at home as we, the mighty Seniors, were, getting into the thick of it by taking part in our varied extra-curricular program.

. . . Carefree Sophomores

It's said that the Sophomore year is the one in which you just mark time between the thrill of entering high school and the rush of Junior activities. However, our Sophomores this year had fun showing the Freshmen the ropes and earning a place for themselves in Shortridge life. In fact, sometimes when the rush of college plans and busy Senior activities were beginning to get the best of us, we longed for the carefree life of a Sophomore.

. . . . And Mighty Juniors

The Juniors got their first taste of politics last fall when they elected officers, and from the time they cast their ballots, there was never a dull moment in the lives of the "almost-Seniors." Their various activities piled on top of each other and they had loads of fun with their successful Vaudeville, their Junior Prom, and ushering for Commencement.

Remember Our Many Auditorium Programs

We really had a wonderful selection of programs this year! Hitting a few of the highlights, remember the uproarious Bluebelle - Uglyman teaser when the candidates were introduced to us as our favorite nursery rhyme characters? How can we ever forget Ted Steeg in his nightgown and nightcap as Red Ridinghood's Grandma, or the three "fur-coated" bears who sang their story with a boogie beat? And then there was the time when Bruce Hilkene, captain of the Michigan football team, showed us his colored movies of the Rose Bowl game. We all enjoyed seeing these rare pictures and especially his amusing commentary.

Of course pep sessions play an important part in the sports program, and we had our share, with the different teams and the cheerleaders presenting a variety of amusing stunts. The one pep session which sticks in our memories is the Dr. I.Q. program which Mr. Nipper "emceed."

Then there were the concerts by our band and orchestra, and, as a special treat, we were fortunate in having the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra play for us. Mrs. Moag's and Mrs. Clippinger's choral groups also presented programs for our entertainment.

Our "brain children" starred in the Awards Day program which was planned last spring and also in the Honor Society auditorium. And as for drama, we saw some really professional-looking programs at Halloween, Christmas, and Easter time, not to mention the play teasers which gave us peeps at the dramatic efforts of our "Theekspians."

Surely we all owe a large vote of thanks to our Auditorium Committee and the grand job which they did!

"Short periods today!" That meant an auditorium the third period. Remember how it used to have us guessing? Would it be a band concert? A serenade by the choir? A speaker? It was really hard to guess, because the Shortridge auditorium committee, under the sponsorship of Robert Shultz, arranged for us a great variety of forty-minute programs. Whatever the entertainment was, we were always sure that it would be most enjoyable, and well executed.

In order to plan these weekly presentations, the committee met at least once a week. The group consisted of specialists in each type of program. That is, there were at the meetings representatives of sports, music, dramatics, and dancing. Also present were the old and new vaudeville chairmen, who could offer valuable advice in the planning of an auditorium. Joan Robinson was the chairman this year.

Remember Our Social Life

Can we ever forget the thrill of our Junior Prom, or the excitement of the Grad Dance, and all the other gala dances and parties which made our high school years so much fun? We'll treasure the memory of all these red letter dates always, for they were so much a part of our Shortridge life.

Social clubs were one thing at Shortridge of which we seemed to have no shortage. Nearly all of us belonged to at least one un-sponsored social club—many of us two or three—and as members of the clubs we undertook all the "big plans" of the year, which included everything from teas and dances to hay-rides, wiener roasts, and spur-of-the-moment get-togethers.

The "big plans" of some of the larger, more established clubs included annual dances, which competed with one another for attendance and support. "Name" bands were sometimes found for the occasion, but whether it was a big band or not, the social clubs always offered a good time to all who came.

I wanna balloon.

Our School Life In Print . . . The Annual

"They" say that a yearbook should record the history of the school and that is just what the editors and staff of the 1948 Annual have tried to do for us. To include all the pictures that we would like to have and still keep within the budget set up for them was a chore, but they must enjoy seeing their efforts actually in print.

The editors started way back last summer to make plans for our book. They were always talking about dummies and layouts and things that didn't seem important to us, but which meant a lot to them. It was some mysterious thing called a deadline that made us all have our pictures taken before Thanksgiving. We noticed that from then on things buzzed in the Annual office.

The first drive for funds almost netted the quota of 1800 books and there weren't many left to be sold during the second semester drive.

. . . Shortridge Offers a Club
for Each of Our Interests

Hi-Y

One club at Shortridge that never seems to lack enthusiasm from its members is the Hi-Y, and if you took a look at what it does you'd understand why. Just like the Y.M.C.A., of which it's a part, the Hi-Y trys to create and maintain the standards of Christian character in the school and the community. With Daniel Welch as the sponsor, the fellows in the Hi-Y all pitched in to do some worthwhile things, including lunch-time music and poster campaigns.

Student Board

We owe a debt of gratitude to our Student Board. It is this group which has made possible the maintenance of so many of our school's extra conveniences and entertainments. These include our noon movies, the two "coke" machines in the cafeteria, the recorded music for the social hour, and the biggest social event of the year, the annual Bluebelle-Uglyman dance. The Board consists of representatives from each home room. It is under the sponsorship of Mrs. Eugenia Hayden, with Daniel Welch. At meetings, discussions are held on new methods of bettering the school life. A food-saving campaign was launched last December.

Radio Workshop

"The High School Hour" is an interesting program over the local ether waves, but if it weren't for the Shortridge Radio Workshop with its talent, this school would not be represented over the air. Members join by submitting scripts, and activities include all phases of broadcasting. Mrs. Eulah Davis Vos is sponsor of the club.

History Club

An eventful year was enjoyed by the members of the Shortridge History Club under the sponsorship of Mrs. Danna L. Huffman. Outstanding in the season's activities was Mrs. Hope Nevitt's report to the group on the meetings of the United Nations which she attended.

Other of the year's events included festivities at Halloween and Christmas, not to mention the club's annual spring picnic. The student historians also sponsored a movie, "The House I Live In," in collaboration with the Y-Teens. Officers for the fall and spring were Darcy DeWeese, president; Bob Mouser, vice-president; Peggy Frary, secretary; and Lyla Matthews, treasurer.

Girls' League

A most enthusiastic group here at Shortridge is the Girls' League, sponsored by Mrs. Eugenia Hayden. Of course all girls are members of the league, but representatives are elected from each home room to form a cabinet and advise Mrs. Hayden concerning matters of interest to girls, and the financing of projects to better the school. At the request of the R.O.T.C., the league is buying attractive military capes for the three girls chosen as this year's M. T. Honor Guard.

New students are oriented at Shortridge by the league's office hostesses. Various school emblems and pennants are sold to help raise funds for its many projects, among which was a "coke" party for freshman girls. It has been the organization's special aim for the year to promote opportunities for all school clubs.

Key Club

One of our newest clubs at S.H.S. has become one of the most important since its start last fall. The "Junior Kiwanians," alias the Key Club, is a junior version of the national Kiwanis Club. Membership is based on a recommendation from the high school principal; and the Key Club boys did a swell job in carrying out their year's projects to live up to the Kiwanis tradition.

Junior

The largest club at Shortridge is undoubtedly the Junior S.P.Q.R., composed of students in Latin and Caesar classes. Keeping such a big organization under "control" is a big job, but Miss Mary Emily Dodson sees that the members carry out just what they plan for. Some of the "plans" included the Liberalia presented in March and the Christmas and Valentine parties.

Senior

Latin may seem uninteresting to some, but the senior Latin students — the ones in Cicero and Vergil classes—have a way of making it a little more interesting. The Senior S.P.Q.R. is the club we're speaking of, and under the watchful eye of Mrs. Elizabeth Helm, the club gets a lot accomplished.

A scrapbook is made each year, and yearbooks given each member. Programs are given during the year, sometimes using Latin readings or songs written in the language of the Romans. The Senior S.P.Q.R. is proud of its many letters of thanks from the organizations it has served.

Fiction Club

"We are members of the Fiction Club . . ."

If you heard this ditty being sung by Shortridgers this year, you might have thought it was something written on the spur of the moment. But, the Fiction Club is the only organization around here that has a song of its own—and it's good, too! And, if you think this is the only accomplishment of the F-C, you're wrong.

We gained membership in the Fiction Club, which is sponsored by Miss Ruth Armstrong, by writing a short story that passed the "grade." During the past year the club held quite a few meetings (mostly party-like get-togethers) and the members also wrote for the Christmas Echo. To wear the silver-and-black shield of the Fiction Club is an honor at Shortridge, but it also stands for a lot of fun—and accomplishment.

Library Club

If you think the kids who assist in the library during the year don't have fun, you should drop around to one of their club's get-togethers when the student helpers meet with Mrs. Esther Cavanagh and Mrs. Jean Jackson. The Library Club's activities through the year always mean a good time, for the members do their biggest job during the school day. The club tries to see that students realize that the library means more than a substitute for study hall, and helps others to see the necessity for all-around cooperation.

Biology Club

For boys and girls who enjoy scouting around such areas as Bacon's Swamp, Holliday Park, and the Oaklandon Reservoir in search of first-hand knowledge of natural science, our Shortridge Biology Club offers a splendid opportunity for entertainment and education. In this group students compare and discuss their discoveries in the field, and study the lives and important findings of the founders of the science. The sponsor is G. Donald Klopp.

Chem Club

The formula for the success of the Chem Club seems to be the interest which all its members show for each of the club's projects. Trips are taken all during the year by the student chemists; and they take in such places as the water company, the gas works, and attend lectures. William Johnson, sponsor, keeps the club activities organized, but the live-wire enthusiasm of the members is the force behind the Chem Club's popularity.

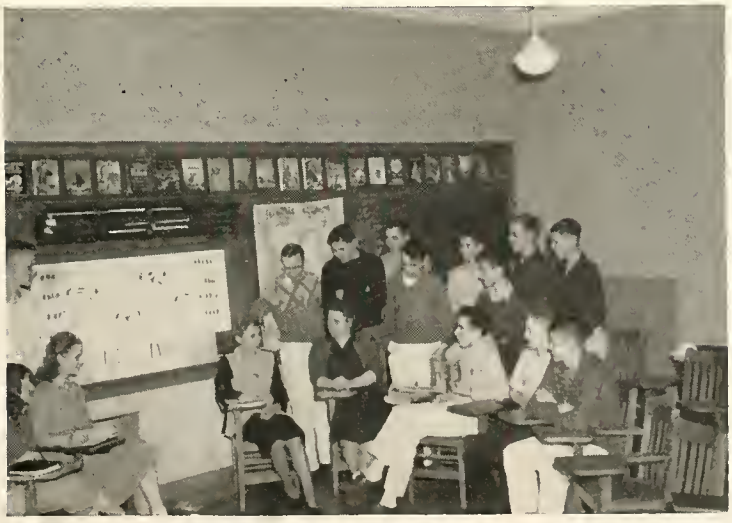
Discussion Group

Certainly one of the most unique organizations we have at our school is the Discussion Group, which meets every other Monday, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Madge Temperley. This club offered to any of us who had a real interest in current events the opportunity of expressing our views on vital topics in informal after-school discussions. In the past season, the group was given a better understanding of modern problems by hearing such well-informed speakers as Gilbert Forbes, and by means of motion pictures. It is always open to interested Shortridgers.

Two school members, Bloor Redding and Dan Nyhart, won the highest honors in their field in a round table discussion held at Indiana University last spring. Mrs. Temperley's group was the only one which won two such awards.

Y-Teens

A group that is very active in the program for the improvement of school life is the Y-Teens, sponsored by the Y.W.C.A. This club sponsors a "coke" hour for freshmen, and has held a series of movies and discussions in connection with the History Club. It also presented a program with the Y.W.C.A. on the topic of fashion design. Mrs. Jean Jackson is Y-Teens' school sponsor.



Discussion Group (seated): Mary Bose, Marge Reed, Mrs. Madge Temperley (sponsor), Norma Blue, Leon Kasseff, Ed Pattison, Tom Todd. Standing: Dick Stout, Bob Mouser, Gerald Kraft, Bill Burnette, Bloor Redding, Vance Smith, Jack Forbes, Steve Wainwright.

Bible Club

An extra-curricular organization which earns school credits for its members is the Bible Club, which offers education in Christian fellowship. Students belonging to this group go regularly to orphanages, detention homes, and other institutions to conduct programs of song and music.

Standing: Mr. Erickson, Mrs. Erickson, David Rose, presiding. Sitting: Betty Dickson, Peggy Cox, Betty Jean Chambers, Barbara Gephart, Dorris Moore.

Camera Club

Camera enthusiasts at our school find pleasure and information concerning their hobby as members of the Camera Club, which is sponsored by Robert C. Grubbs. Amateur research is carried on, and slide and lecture material are furnished by the Eastman Kodak Company.

Red Cross

One representative from each home room makes up the roster of our Shortridge Red Cross group. The organization carries on vital relief work in preparing gift boxes for the war-torn countries overseas. More than 147 such boxes were sent in the past year. The Red Cross is under the sponsorship of Mrs. Cena Morgan.

Croquis Club

Art at Shortridge has always been top-notch, and one of the organizations which makes it so is the Croquis Club, made up of the art students who want to get better acquainted with their subject. As members of the club, which is sponsored by Miss Jane Messick, we visited the Hoosier Salon at Block's, the John Herron Art Institute, and the studios of several local artists, where we observed the work of famous artists and got many pointers for our own artistic endeavors.

True Blue

This year the True Blue Club was composed mainly of office hostesses and in case you don't know who the office hostesses are, they're the attractive, friendly lassies who occupied the desk in the reception room of Mrs. Hayden's office in 118. They welcomed outsiders, and were ready to give help to any lost freshman by being the mainstays of the Big Sisters.

Besides being ambassadors of good will they sold all kinds of S.H.S. pennants and stickers, assisted Mrs. Hayden in all kinds of paper work and they belonged to the Girls' League.

The True Blue Club not only helps outsiders, but it helps "insiders" too and helps Shortridge to be a friendlier place in which to spend our time.

Thespian Society

It's been a stock pun at Shortridge to call our dramatists "Theekspians" after their swell director, Miss Eleanor Dee Theek. Whether we kid 'em or not, the local Thespians do a good job of bringing top-notch plays to the school—and always put their best efforts into the job.

To be a full-fledged member of the local Thespian chapter, the actors and actresses must have earned a number of points through participation in productions. Each spring an initiation is held for the new members. "The show must go on"—and the Shortridge Thespians always make this hold true.

Math Club

Math is dull, you say! Well, you ought to see the way the members of the Shortridge Math Club attend their meetings and soak in the wisdom brought by lecturers through the year. Miss Ellen Ocker is the sponsor, and helps the members work out the programs . . . and the puzzles that have become a part of the club's activities.

Back row: Don Millholland, Rolf Paul, Isadore Talesnick, Dan McNally, Bob Mouser, Jack Forbes. First row, by windows: Bob Deitch, Warren Rich, Tom Todd, Ed Pattison. Second row: Christina Baldwin, Richard Orman, Marilyn Straub, Jack Palmer, Alfred Bosley, Bloor Redding. Third row: Lois Walker, Sharon Holwerda, Peggy Lupton, Molly Kuehrmann, Sally Bell, Margaret Leighty. First row: Robert Suess.

Girl Scouts

In the past season, the Shortridge Girl Scouts have been active in the making of "pleasure boxes" to be sent overseas. These boxes contain children's toys which are in good condition. Several of the girls worked at St. Vincent's Hospital in their spare time.

Hikes, campfire parties, and overnight trips consumed some of the Girl Scouts' time.

All these outings helped to create a feeling of good will among S.H.S. girls and helped to keep that "loyal feeling" alive!

Girls' Bowling League

"Strike!" was the call that echoed back here from the 34th Street Alleys where the Girls' Bowling League spent their Wednesday afternoons "keeping in shape."

Miss Alice Jane Hessler is sponsor of the League, and helps the girls with their technique in bowling.

The girls work for points which in turn give them membership in the Philateron Club or toward a S.H.S. sweater or numeral.

For a score every time, it's GBL every time!

German Club

Just everyone who attended our Family Frolic last fall wandered some time or other into the popular International Casino, and was entertained by music and dialogue with a German flavor. The project was managed by Shortridge's German Club. This enthusiastic organization has undertaken many activities, all of which have been for the purpose of better understanding and enjoyment of the language and customs of the German people. Early in the semester the members held a wiener roast. At Christmas time they decorated a school window and had a gay party. They gave a tea for members' mothers in the spring.

Philateron Club

Hey, A letter-WOMAN! Yes, the men at Shortridge aren't the only athletic-minded people in school who get rewards for their efforts. These active gals belonged to the Philateron Club—and if you think it was easy to get one of these "S" monograms, you're wrong!

The Philateron Club is made up of girls who want to participate in soccer, basketball, bowling, volleyball, softball, tennis, and swimming—and have earned 500 points. A thousand points are needed before the girl can win her sweater . . . and with the sweater goes a lifetime S.H.S. athletic pass.

Besides being active in girls' sports, the Philateron gals passed out programs at athletic events. The girls also made special scarfs to wear at the games. The club is sponsored by Mrs. Mary C. Treichler.

Senate

Mister Senator! You might think that you were sitting in on one of the Senate sessions in Washington if you happened to visit one of the Shortridge Senate's meetings this year and listened to the junior congressmen debate bills using their "senatorial names" . . . Jenner, Morse, White, and Green, and so forth.

The Senate is the oldest club at the alma mater, begun 'way back when Miss Laura Donnan founded it sixty years ago. Mrs. Annalee Webb Miller is the current sponsor, and keeps the Senators in line as "sergeant-at-arms." The Senators have a lot of fun—and accomplish quite a bit in the long run.

Stamp Club

"Postage stamps are beacon lights of history, monuments of heroes, gems of art, disseminators of universal knowledge, records of achievements, and mute witnesses to the rise and fall of empires." This inscription is included in one of the philatelic displays arranged by the Shortridge Stamp Club. The organization devotes much time to the making of these exhibits, and in doing so always follows a central theme: famous Americans, National parks, or groups of birds or animals portrayed on the stamps. The club, sponsored by Arthur G. Shull, also hears talks given by adults who are avid stamp collectors like the members.

Fall Heroes . . . Our Mighty Satan Gridders

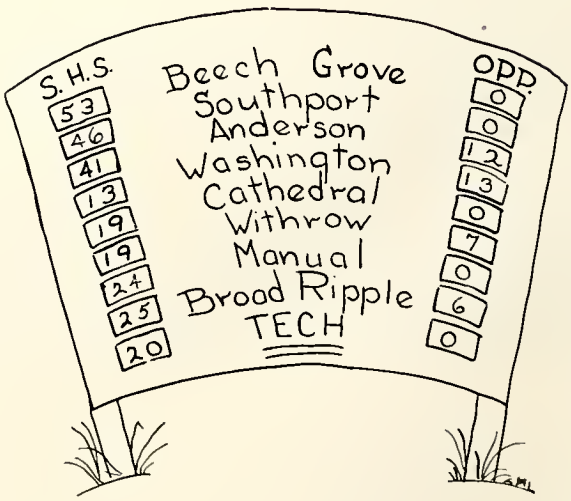
On a hot, sultry September third, fifty boys met at a certain athletic field, somewhere out on West Forty-third Street. They little dreamed of the fame and laurels that were to be theirs at the end of the long football season ahead. These fifty Shortridgers, under the expert tutelage of George N. Gale, fused to form one of the greatest gridiron teams ever to represent our school. Rolling undefeated through a nine-game schedule, our Shortridge squad emerged as eighth best in the state.

On September 19, five thousand spectators jammed the Beech Grove stadium to see what the true story was. They were treated to a scene of destruction as the Satans smashed to a touchdown in the first seven plays and romped easily to a final 53-0 score over the county champs. Ted Steeg, Rufus Marks, Dudley Burge, Chuck Keever, Bill Ralph, Art Klein, and Jack Tichenor accounted for the eight touchdowns, with Tichenor, a lad who was destined for much greater fame, picking up two. The following Friday, six thousand fans turned out at Southport and were greeted with another scoring display which will not soon be forgotten, as the Blue Devils rolled up a 46-0 count, shoving aside the Cardinals with almost equal ease. It was Art Klein, Bob Hall, Ralph Davis, and the sophomore standouts, Rufus Marks and Bill Ralph, who carried the ball across the double stripe into pay-dirt territory.

The next week our Blue Devils again demonstrated their power, sinking Anderson by an impressive 41-12 count. After the Redskins drove down to the Shortridge three, the Galemen came storming back, sending Keever, Parr, Klein and Tichenor over. The latter scored eighteen points, to lead the scoring parade.

After three games against out-of-town competition, the Blue and White was ready for its first inter-city clash, against Washington. This tilt turned out later to be the most disappointing of the great '47 contest, as fifty-five hundred screaming fans saw the Continentals threaten consistently and finally push over a marker to retire from the field with a 7-0 half-time advantage. Shortridge came back fighting mad in the second canto, unleashing two blinding attacks to forge into a 13-7 lead, but the Bogue boys had enough fight left to drive over another marker late in the fourth period. As the final gun sounded, the scoreboard read thirteen apiece.

Because of a series of practice injuries Williams, Steeg, Rice, and Thompson were unable to start against our next opponent, the Irish of Cathedral. However, despite a muddy field which greatly handicapped the Shortridge breakaway runners, Tichenor, Keever, and Klein managed to score, and Leer converted once to give Shortridge a 19-0 victory.



Again the Blue Devils tackled out-of-city competition the following week as the squad journeyed to Cincinnati in a renewal of their rivalry with Withrow. This contest was one of the toughest games of the year, and the Satans had to overcome a 7-0 deficit before they emerged on the long end or a 19-7 score.

After this accomplishment, most of the three thousand spectators at Manual expected a terrific slaughter, but Shortridge used this game as a breather, running up only a 24-0 count.

Fall Heroes

The increasing enthusiasm of a fine season was unleashed the following Friday, as the Ripple Rockets invaded the Forty-third Street athletic plant. Tichenor started it off sprinting sixty yards down the sidelines on the second play from scrimmage. Chuck Keever carried it all the way down for the second Shortridge score as the teams retired at the half. Following the intermission Steeg sliced through for thirty-six yards and points while Tichenor plowed twelve yards for the final marker. A lapse in the Satans' pass defense permitted the Rockets to gain a consolation touchdown.

Standing between Shortridge and an undefeated season was its arch rival from the east side, Technical, unbeaten by a Blue Devil team since 1943. Midway in the first quarter Fred Davis uncorked a thirty-three-yard pass to Gene Rogers, and the latter scampered over untouched as Shortridge revealed to the five thousand rooters the "Tech Special." Another aerial attack resulted in a five-yard touchdown pass to Evan Parker, and Charlie Keever wound up the day and his high school football career with another tally as the curtain fell on one of the greatest Shortridge seasons in history.

Cathedral upset Washington the next day and gave Shortridge undisputed control of the city crown. The Blue Devils also placed Tichenor, Grimmer, Keever, Parker, Horton, and Steeg on the various all-city selections. For Tichenor there was the even higher distinction of a first-string all-state berth.

Reserve Football

The Shortridge "B" team, although it dropped five out of its six games, developed some excellent material for future varsity squads in last year's up-and-down season. Fred "Knute" Rouch, completing his twenty-seventh year as a football coach, offered a lineup which starred two crashing ends, Tom Perrine and Bill Bosson. The reserve tackle, Jack MacDonald; center, Norman Glick, and halfback, Ike Davis, are prospective talent for the 1948 Blue Devils.

Freshmen Football

Coach Tom Woods, ably assisted by Roy Aberson, tutored a frosh team which failed to round into top form all season long, but which posted two victories in six starts. The coveted Freshman Trophy was won by Dave Epstein. Other freshman players who proved outstanding were Frank Unversaw, Kenny Romaine, Dick Cook, and Ward Walker.

Hoosier Madness, Shortridge Style!

Blessed with five returning letterwinners and a host of aspiring candidates, Coach Jerry Steiner began basketball practice early in October to mold his hardwood five for the rugged schedule lying ahead. The Blue Devils looked impressive in their first two outings, rolling over Greenfield by a 37-28 count, and Noblesville by a healthy 55-40 margin as Keever and Rcgers showed the way. However, these early successes were short-lived when Southport dropped the locals from the elite ranks with a 35-29 lacing. Undismayed, the Satan quintet, paced by Lambert and Lacy, came back and squelched Shelbyville's defending state champions, 30-25.

In the city tournament the following week the Blue Devils really turned the heat on. A first-round conquest of Manual was followed by a surprising 15-point victory over Howe, and then as a climax, the boys in blue edged Washington, 38-36, to give Shortridge its first city tournament crown in history. Keever, Rogers, and Lacy led the assault, and Bill Ralph, sophomore center, began to show his value in controlling rebounds. However, the Steinermen couldn't follow it up and proceeded to drop a tough one-point decision to Columbus, 40-39. Back into the win column again, Ralph led the Satans to a 43-36 trimming of Cathedral, and the same boy was outstanding as the Blue Devils rode to an easy 40-19 win over University High of Bloomington.

Then a mid-season slump saw Shortridge lose three in a row to arch-rival Broad Ripple, Anderson, and Howe. Dud Burge was the one bright light during this dark period as he garnered a sizable share of the team's points. The Blue Devils broke the losing streak the next week, and continued on the victory trail long enough to pile up a six-game winning consistency against tough opposition. It was at this time that the team played its best basketball of the season.

Rogers makes a flying leap for the ball.

It's a toss-up in the City Tourney play-offs.

Ben Davis produced the first victim as Keever unleashed a 16-point barrage, and Manual, previously beaten by Shortridge in the city tourney, fell again with Burge and Ralph providing the scoring power. Keever was hot again up at Lebanon and his 18 points paced the Satans as they blasted their hosts, 52-45. Next came a sweet 43-37 win over a favored Tech squad. Keever again was unstoppable and he poured in 18 more points to add to his total. To prove that they were the city's leading five, the Steinermen piled up an early half-time lead and then staved off a furious third period rally to dump Washington again by a slim 37-35 margin. Ralph, now a consistent point-getter, scored 15.

Crawfordsville's Athenians, at that time ranked fifth in the state, invaded the home gym the following week but received an unpleasant welcome as they bowed, 44-36, to an alert Shortridge five. Levinson and Rogers divided scoring honors with nine points apiece. However, in the last tilt of the regular season South Side Ft. Wayne were too tough for the Blue Devils as they won going away by a 61-43 reading. Outstanding in defeat was Bill Ralph, who racked up 18 markers for the Blue and White.

Don't let those Athenians get the ball!

Which way will it fall?

Eight Little Blue Devils

Eight little Blue Devils
Were tossed out of heaven.
One lost the way to Shortridge,
And then there were seven.

Seven little Blue Devils
Were up on all the tricks.
One missed the toss-up,
And then there were six.

Six little Blue Devils
Were all that did survive.
One got called out of bounds,
And then there were five.

Five little Blue Devils
Came out upon the floor.
One made a free throw,
And then there were four.

Four little Blue Devils
Went on a scoring spree.
One scored a long one,
And then there were three.

Three little Blue Devils
Wore uniforms of blue.
One dribbled down the floor,
And then there were two.

Two little Blue Devils
Thought the fray was fun.
One made the city team,
And then there was one.

One little Blue Devil
Was left all alone.
He tossed in an extra one,
And then the game was won!

Reserve Basketball

The reserve bucketball team closed a successful season with the books recording ten victories in sixteen starts. Under the tutelage of Coach George Gale, the nucleus of next year's varsity team was developed. Promising prospects included: Jack Axline, Dick Jacobs, Fred Davis, Bill Bosson, Ralph Davis, and Don Ogle. Jack Axline, the high scoring man on the reserve team, was awarded the distinction of being the most valuable reserve player.

Freshman Basketball

A look at the ledgers of this year's freshman basketball team would indicate the presence of plenty of material for future winning Blue Devil squads. Coach Tom Woods' boys racked up an impressive record of eleven victories in sixteen starts. The regular starting lineup for the frosh included: Frank Unversaw, Ward Walker, Ward Sexson, Walter Mercer, and Dick Cook. Dick Cook was high-point man for the frosh team.

The 1948 track team, under the tutelage of veteran coach Don R. Knight, was scheduled to open the season April 9 at Jeff of Lafayette with seven returning lettermen and a bright future. Following the Jeff meet the thinlies traveled to Bloomington for their only other dual meet, since for five consecutive weeks thereafter their schedule listed the Indianapolis Relays, the City Meet, a quadrangular meet with Howe, Washington, and Manual, the Sectionals, and the State Meet.

This year's track squad was developed last year by Coach Knight, through a tough season, and of the seven returnees three took blue ribbons in last year's City Meet and all seven won ribbons of some sort, which indicated a wealth of front-line strength. If enough reserve strength was built up it is very easy to predict that the spikesters followed in the paths of the Shortridge football and basketball squads and annexed the city championship.

Golf, Cross Country

In golf the Blue Devil teesters placed second behind the state champ, Tech, in the Broad Ripple Invitational Meet at Meridian Hills. Pete Burkholder, Tom Nunamaker, and Harrison Marsh were outstanding in that match and all showed signs of being tough in the spring season.

Other players returning from last year were Dick Pedigo and John Roberts. Also joining the team this season are Jack Leer, senior, and Jim Balch, a promising freshman.

Kenneth Peterman coached the golf team.

Last fall our cross country team turned in a creditable record, dropping only three meets in eight starts. Under the direction of coach Don R. Knight the Shortridge thinly-clads finished fourth in the sectional and city meets.

Baseball

Last year baseball returned to Shortridge under the able coaching of Jerry Steiner. This team was a hot and cold team, winning four of eleven games. This year with a year under their belts the team showed pep in its twelve-game schedule.

Returning from last year's team are the following monogram winners: Fred Davis, pitcher; Gene Rogers, first base; and Dick Fleck and Ronnie Nelson, outfielders. These along with others who saw limited action last year formed a nucleus for the team this year.

Intramural Sports

This year, under the able leadership of Coach Robert Nipper, the Shortridge Athletic Department started an extensive intramural program. Last fall the program opened with soccer which, although successful, found no champion because of a lack of teams.

As the sports moved indoors, basketball and wrestling shared the limelight. In the basketball leagues the Flicks won the Senior loop, and the Dodgers, the Junior edition. The Flicks were Bruce Gaines, George Birt, Bill Karandos, Bob Kenny, Bill Byram, and Jim Lowe. The members of the Dodgers were Jim Kealing, Clarence Deal, Marvin Maguire, Kenny Eiler, and Forest Van-Forester.

The wrestling meet produced the following winners: 95 lbs., Ted Schurdell; 105 lbs., Arnold Brown; 112 lbs., Jim Bose; 121 lbs., Dick Bowers; 127 lbs., Ed Dimick; 133 lbs., Phil Boyd; 138 lbs., Jerry Schellert; 145 lbs., Dick Talbott; 155 lbs. Phil Vickery; 165 lbs., Frank Jose; heavyweight, Evan Parker. Paul Dill coached the wrestlers.

An added feature of the program was the intramural wrestling meets with other city high schools.

The remainder of the year was filled with volleyball, tennis, swimming, softball, and track. Winners in each of the sports were awarded medals at the end of the season, and the first year of the intramural program was termed a success by Coach Nipper.

Our Lettermen . . .

"Oh, he's a letterman." And no doubt he belonged to that male-only club, the Lettermen's Club, too. This year there were thirty-four members and every letter winner in any sport was eligible to be a member.

The club ushered for the senior play in March and sponsored the Lettermen-Faculty basketball game in March as some of their activities. The purpose of this club is to help the Athletic Department and the school in all ways possible.

. . . And Trophy Winners

Each year five trophies are presented to the outstanding members of the varsity and reserve football teams, according to their various skills and achievements. The Frank J. Skinner trophy for the most valuable player was awarded to Jack McVey. Fred Davis and John Grimmer won the William and Lewis Skinner trophy for the most improved back and lineman. The Robert C. Burnette Toughman trophy went to Jim Horton. The James A. Davis trophy for the most outstanding frosh player went to David Epstein.

Gene Rogers and Jack Axline were awarded the Underwood trophies in basketball for being the most valuable players on the varsity and reserve teams, respectively.

Trophy Winners. James Horton, Fred Davis, John Grimmer, Jack McVey, David Epstein.

Our Girl Athletes Show Us How It's Done

Although the Echo headlines seldom scream news of girls' sports—in comparison to the blaring banners created by the male athletes—Shortridge has carried through a well-organized program of athletics for the "better half" of our school's population.

Soccer opened our girls' intramural sports program on September 16, 1947. The two teams were captained by Evelyn Arnold and Mary Dee Bose. The student chairman for the sport was Delores Thom.

Bowling, under the leadership of Joyce Wood, started on September 24 with many participants. In this sport, Edith Yeager, Rita Woolf and Joan Bluestein were outstanding.

Advanced and beginning basketball were combined this year, with Mary Dee Bose as student chairman. Lois Walker's team won the tournament with Kay Shannon's and Yvette Marks' teams as runnersup.

Another sport organized was deck tennis with Mary Carol Dressel as chairman. Kay Shannon, Lois Walker, Jane Lemmert, and Joyce Wood were team captains. We girls also played volleyball, with Marilyn McCoy as our chairman, and softball, with Kay Shannon as student leader.

Girls' sports activities are under the direction of Mrs. Mary C. Treichler and Miss Alice Jane Hessler.
